

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS

Brave Young World - A Film by The Concerned for Working Children Introduced by CWC

Brave Young World is a film describing the work of The Concerned for Working Children (CWC) organisation in building children's participation in governance.

The film gives insights about children's understanding of a participatory world. It shows how children are keen to be change agents by participating in decision making processes in arenas affecting their lives. This film takes the viewers through some of CWC's efforts in collectivizing, creating and facilitating the political participation of children. It shines a spotlight on CWC's philosophy that decisions regarding children should not be made for them, but should be made alongside them.

A link to the film is here:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XM7dzSA_n40#t=32

Author Details

The Concerned for Working Children collective has been a registered society in India since 1985. In 2012 CWC was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize by members of the Norwegian Parliament for, among other things, being "pioneers in children's participation within research, public planning, youth democracy, media and other areas." Address: The Concerned for Working Children, 303/2, L B Shastri Nagar Vimanapura Post, Bangalore 560 017, Karnataka, India. T: 0091-80-25234611, F: 0091-80-25235034, Email: cwc@pobox.com

This written work by CWC is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 Unported license. Copyright for the video is determined separately by that given on the YouTube video link.